

SUSTAINABILITY INFORMATION

AUGUST 2024

As a manufacturer of storage solutions, we are conscious that the way we obtain and process the main raw material we use - wood - can cause a major impact on the environment, if not adequately controlled.

Here at Freewall, we take several measures to ensure that our environmental footprint is as minimal as possible.

Not only we monitor how our raw materials are sourced, but also implement procedures that actively control the management of waste and polluting substances.

FSC

Freewall is proud to have been renewing their FSC® certification from the Soil Association since 2016.

We ensure that all of our board comes from responsible, sustainable sources, and offset the resources we use as a company.

Certificate number FSC-C126697

The mark of responsible forestry

ISO

As of 2019, Freewall is officially endorsed the ISO 14001:2015 certification of Environmental Management.

This accreditation shows the willingness of our staff and product to seek out ways of protecting the environment.

Certificate number 221282

MANUFACTURED LOCALLY

Our Storagewall and QB Zoning Systems are proudly manufactured and assembled in our factory, located in the charming village of Billingshurst.

This is an ideal location from where we transport our goods, being just under 50 miles from central London where we supply and install the majority of our work.

COMMUNITY BASED

Freewall is a small company whose origins are rooted in West Sussex.

Our employees are mostly local to the village, and all of them live within a 30 minute commute.

When possible, we collaborate with nearby trades, suppliers and fitters to minimise transportation needs, and support the local economy.

SUSTAINABLE PRACTICES

Freewall is committed to take action in order to actively reduce our impact on the environment.

This is reflected by our FSC® and ISO 14001:2015 certifications.

Our next goal is to obtain our own Environmental Product Declaration.

CARE FROM START TO FINISH

Freewall have been providing quality storage solutions to companies in the UK and beyond for decades.

As a trade-only supplier, we take great care ensuring our customers are satisfied, not only with the quality of our product, but quality of service throughout.
